

MOCAP UNDERGRADUATE RESEARCH SCHOLARS PROGRAM

mobatteryresearch.com

- The Missouri Center for Advanced Power (MOCAP) is a Missouri partnership devoted to battery & power-based research and educating a 21st-Century workforce.
- MOCAP is awarding a $1,000 stipend to support undergrad research.
- Present your work at the MOCAP Summit in Spring 2027 in Joplin, Missouri - an opportunity to present energy-based research, meet with industry professionals looking to hire students in the field, and tour battery manufacturing facilities.

 1 stipend will be awarded per university.*

LEARN MORE ABOUT THE SCHOLARS PROGRAM

mobatteryresearch.com

REQUIREMENTS

- To be eligible, student must be currently enrolled as an undergraduate student at a MOCAP-affiliate academic institution.
- Applicant must propose an undergraduate research project on a topic of general interest to MOCAP's mission.
- Applicant must identify a faculty mentor to oversee and direct their research project.
- Recipients will be required to present a poster at the annual Spring MOCAP Summit on in Spring 2027 in Joplin, Missouri.

HOW TO APPLY

To apply, please send the application materials below to the MOCAP contact at your institution by the end of day deadline of September 11, 2026. Winners will be notified within a week after the deadline.

- Resume
- Unofficial Current Transcript
- Brief (200-500 words) project description
- Statement of support from faculty mentor

CONTACTS

University of Missouri: Columbia: Matthias Young, Matthias.Young@missouri.edu

Missouri State University: Daniel Moreno, danielmoreno@missouristate.edu

Missouri University of Science and Technology: Jonghyun Park, parkjonghy@mst.edu

Missouri Southern State University: Marsi Archer, archer-m@mssu.edu